"Time of Your Life"

Another turning point, a fork stuck in the road. Time grabs you by the wrist, directs you where to go. So make the best of this test, and don't ask why. It's not a question, but a lesson learned in time. It's something unpredictable, but in the end is right. I hope you had the time of your life.

So take the photographs, and still frames in your mind. Hang it on a shelf of good health and good time. Tattoos of memories and dead skin on trial. For what it's was worth, it was worth all the while. I hope you had the time of your life.

Dedication to Roger LeBlanc

Looking back on our four years at Longmeadow High School, the Class of 2001 dedicates the "Time of Your Life" to Mr. Roger LeBlanc. For over at 35 years, Roger LeBlanc has been well respected by faculty, students, and parents alike. His passion for teaching English and concern for each individual has motivated students to want to learn. Devoted to every aspect of producing the Masacksic, Roger LeBlanc works side by side with the editors and staff.

Without fail Roger LeBlanc wears his "I Care" pin and carries out this perspective by creating a classroom that is both inviting and comforting to students. He encourages his students to be independent thinkers by creating a stress-free environment, where learning is the number one priority. His firm belief in respect and trust is shown through his attitude towards his students. Students can always find him after school willing to provide extra help, to lend an ear or a shoulder to cry on.

Roger LeBlanc is passionately dedicated to advising the editors and staff of the Masacksic. From the countless hours he spends after school to the relationships he establishes with the staff, he exceeds expectations. Beyond producing a good yearbook, Roger LeBlanc instills life skills, such as responsibility, trust, and independence.

With the same passion that Roger LeBlanc has taught his English classes, we, the class of 2001, dedicate the "Time of Your Life." The time, energy, and concerns he holds for his students are inspirational. Thanks for helping us have the time of our lives. Thank you Roger Leblanc, our teacher, advisor, mentor, and inspiration.

The Masacksic gives a special thanks to Mr. Matt Fenn and Mr. Kirkpatrick for making this dedication possible.

From Your Class Officers:

They say the grass is greener on the other side. Now everybody knows our town is well...green. After all it is a L-o-n-g-meadow, but for the next four years the only grass some of us will be seeing will be 30 feet down from the window of our freshmen dorms. As we enter our college years, we hope everyone can look back on high school as one of the most memorable times of our lives.

Over the years at LHS, we've grown bigger as our backpacks have grown smaller. Trips to Quincy Market, Newbury Street, Executive Paintball, Broadway, dances, and senior week are all unforgetable memories. The times we've shared and the friendships we've made will hold special places in our hearts. We wish you the best in all your future endeavors.

With love from your class officers,

Justin, Jim, Dereck, Leah, and Liz

"It's something unpredictable, but in the end is right. I hope you had the time of your life." (Green Day)

From Your Class Advisors:

In the Fall of 1997 students from Williams, Glenbrook, and other area schools came together to form the Longmeadow High School class of 2001. New friends and new experiences were waiting. It seemed that everyone was a little scared, yet very excited!! You were aware of your diversity, and in your four years together, this very divesity has proven to be your biggest strength. Because of your ability to pull together and become a unit, you have been able to have a wonderful high school experience, and a fabulous Senior year.

You have grown into a gifted and versitile class. Your academic accomplishments are complimented by athletic, musical, and artistic skills that so clearly define you as a special group. Your talents are reflected in the variety of your honors: among you are Merit Scholars, gifted writers, All Western Mass athletes, award winning musician, and artists. In years ahead, we will be reading about 2001 classmates who are making their mark in all aspects of society all over the world.

Selecting our play, working hard for three months and producing such a magnificent show really became the center of the "SENIOR EXPERIENCE." You were able to take the challenges and respond both creatively and effectively to stressful situations. Little Shop of Horrors was so successful because of the 132 kids who participated. You all gave so much time and effort for your class.

We have great memories from all the activities that you planned. The events were varied and fun and executed with aplomb. Our Sophomore year was a real success--the Lock-in was a huge money maker, and the dinner dance was our first formal affair. Our dances were always fun, and you guys met the challenges of the breathelizer with dignity and awareness. We are a better school because of your leadership. The trips to Boston got better and better as the years passed. We were the first class to do a Paint Ball Day(and what a day it was!), and we will be noted for introducing the Welcome Back Senior Breakfast. The Log Cabin was the perfect setting for our prom, and our senior events have been fun and memorable. As chaperones, we have been continually impressed with your politeness. As a class, we have set some precedents and helped to make Longmeadow High School a better place.

During the last four years, we have worked with many wonderful class officers. To all of you, and especially to Leah Skypeck, Meghan Shea, Kevin Conboy, Stephanie Chen, Christa McCarthy-Miller, Justin Kent, Liz Sturgis, Kyle Rodri, Jim Lin, and Dereck Johnson, we thank you for the fun and wish you the brightest of futures.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Moore

"God alone can fully and always hear the voice that the earth utters to the sky the many tounges of its many waters. But he sends us men sometimes to whom He has given such ears in their soul that they can perceive some of the meaning of the world's great sea voice and they are able to translate for us some of the music and the magic of the sea- soul of earth. These men are poets or painters or musicians, and they can hear more than most of us, far more than we hear at the coast, of the great sea's musical mystery, the strange trouble of the weird waters, and the moving ocean's mighty joy. And they sing for us, these men, what the sea says, and their voice is beautiful and wonderful." - J.P. Forsyth

LUNCH! A sophomore lunch table is caught off guard by the camera girl, so they attempt to smile with food in their mouths. (left)

The school year began just as it always does. The seniors were excited to be seniors, until they found out how big of a task applying to college was.The juniors entered the year not believing the common saying of "Junior Year being the toughest year." They soon saw this was true, when teachers began loading on the homework and SATs came. Sophomores just sat back and relaxed because they weren't freshmen anymore. Slightly skiddish the Freshmen joined the high school, but it wasn't long before they too felt comfortable and began to enjoy their high school experience.

The fairly young orchestra performed a lauded winter concert featuring Schubert "Rosemunde Overture," Nehlybel's "Music for Orchestra," and Mahler's "Finale from the Third Symphony." Also, a new program was instituted instead of the Amherst exchange this year. The class was broken into smaller chamber music groups to learn and teach music to one another. As in everything the orchestra does the students went after the project with enthusiasm and ended in a private concert recorded for the students. Everyone looks forward to another spectacular Major Works Concert from the orchestra in the spring.

The 2000-2001 school year was another for the LHS jazz ensemble. Given that the group was pretty young and had many new members, a lot of people didnt expect that much from us, but by February, we had a come far enough to play an amazing concert and live up to our school's awesome jazz ensemble tradition. The program for the concert included John Coltrane's "Impressions", a great opener which taught us a lot about building intensity; Duke Ellington's "Rocks In My Bed", a beautifully written composition which unleashed some interesting mental images for Mr. Mucci and featured our favorite jazz vocalist, Jessica Freeman; and Ernie Wilkins' " Way Out Basie", a piece that taught us the difference between playing music right and playing music RIGHT!!! The Spring Concert in May was a big success.

This year's jazz ensemble was one of the most improved in LHS history because of the individual effort of each player. Standouts include not only our talented and dedicated section leaders, Ryan Foss, Robbie Berger, Susie Moore, and Zach Nadler, but our new players who rose to the challenge, making incredible personal improvements in many cases. Some musicians even learned to play new instuments (e.g. Anna Calvanese, Erica White, and Robbie Berger) No one can forget the suave guitar player, who likes long walks and on the beach. Our greatest achievement, however, was moving beyond just playing our parts, and learning to swing and play with enough passion to express ourselves through the music.

Lyrics, a select vocal ensemble, has come a very long way this year. Starting out with half a new group, who were willing to work hard to achieve their goals. The first concert that the group appeared in was the Winter Concert. With only a few months to prepare a repetoire, conductor Peter Thomsen had to work with the group to make a more mature and beautiful sound. After a trip to the opera in late November, the group was inspired for the taping of The 22 News Holiday Special. In December, Lyrics worked on music of many languages and performed beautifully at the concert. After sending an audition tape to the All State Committee, the choir was informed that they were chosen to perform at All State. Lyrics was the only high school choir chosen to perform in the entire state, and the first in the school since 1995. At the Pop's Concert Lyrics perfomed two jazz pieces from a Swedish group callled, "The Real Group." Sir Duke and God Only Knows, were the names of the two selections, and were a challenge to the group. In the spring, the group performed Mozart's Requiem for their major work.

With the largest amount of guys in Men's orus to date, Mr. Thomsen and the guys have a pretty busy year. Besides the usual singing all, Winter, Pops, and Spring concerts, they performed in a male choral festival under the ection of Peter Bagley. The UCONN Men's oir, as well as the Williams Middle School 7th 8th grade Men's Chorus participated in the ival. From Grateful Dead to Seal to Dispatch he Beatles, the chorus performed a variety of es. Then in March, the chorus took a ten hour ride to Pittsburgh to perform at the All-tern Conference. An overall successful year the chorus.

This group consisting of girls ranging from grades ten to twelve, have made beautiful music this year. Each member having an assigned part alto, soprano two, or soprano one, is expected to be able to hold up their own part. This year the group has done a marvelous job performing different genres of music. During the Fall Concert the choir performed a very beautiful song featured on the Pure Moods Cd, called "Adiemus." During the Pops Concert the group sang an original version of the song "Joyful, Joyful," from the movie Sister Act Two. The group is seperated into different sections according to the colors red, orange, yellow, green, blue and purple. The Spring Concert was a big success and it was very hard to say goodbye to the devoted seniors who will be going off to college in the fall. La Cappella will be one experience to remember for everyone of the girls.

This year Women's Chorus was under the direction of Ms. Kayla Werlin. The usual white and black attire was altered to an array of color. The songs that were performed at the Fall Concert featured many soloists and showed that the group would be magnificent in concerts to come. At the Pops Concert the choir sang a harmonious rendition of Wilson Phillips' "Hold On." With a lot of woman power the group also performed the song "You Don't Own Me," a piece featured in the movie The First Wives Club. This spring Women's Chorus will perform in their last concert as a group, leaving the freshman chorus to move on to La Cappella.

I Cantori consists of fifteen members, and is the most select group of the school. This year is the first year that Cantori has become a year long group, singing jazz pieces as well as madrigals. Before each concert the group puts in many hours a week learning and memorizing difficult music. Emergency rehersals everday after school, and even snow day rehersals hleped to pull the group through. At the Winter Concert Cantori was the first group to take the stage performing two madrigals and a jazz piece. The last song featured Jessica Freeman, and was a big hit with the audience. For Pop's Concert the group performed a song called Chile Con Carne, a fast paced song recorded by Swedish vocal jazz group, "The Real Group." For their last concert the group will perform another jazz piece. Each member of this group puts a lot of time and energy to make Cantori the best it can be.

This year the football team moved up into Division I league. It was Coach Rotsko's eigth year coaching the team. It was his most exciting year coaching, even though the team lost sixteen seniors to graduation. Senior captains Justin Kent, Jon Liro-Hudson, and Jason Chew did a great job of leading the young team to success. The team was inexperienced going into the season, and there weren't expected to make the Super Bowl. They attended their fourth consecutive Super Bowl, finishing the season with nine wins and two losses. The freshmen team finished the season with eight wins and one loss. All and all the season was enjoyable and successful.

Cheerleading

Go Lancers!

Heidi Shira Tannenbaum

This year, under Coach Pricilla Diaz and Ellie Matroni, the LHS cheerleading squad once again led the school with their spirit and proved their strength as a team. Whether in cheers at football and basketball games or at competitions, the girls came together for two successful seasons. In the fall, they led fans on cheering on our football team at its fourth straight superbowl, as well as participating in many competitions. The varsity teams placed second at the Sheperd-Hill regional high school competition, and junior varsity placed third. The varsity team also participated in the Division II Western Mass. Exhibition and the state competitions.

Led by Co-Captains, senior Niki Alexopolous and Junior Jenna Fusaro, the teams worked hard practicing routines, cheering for games, making posters to publicize the games, and preparing for their competitions. A normal practice consists of stunts, jumps, gymnastics, dance, and cheer.

Cheerleading unlike many sports spans two seasons. A sport which requires a lot of trust between teammates, especially with stunts and jumps, the team is held together by a strong sense of teamwork. Co-Captains Niki and Jenna sum up the year saying, "We have come a long way since last season. We also have a lot of fun together, the whole team is like sisters."

Cross Country

Andrew Whiteford

Cross Country requires dedication and team unity to pull together a strong season. There were over 80 runners in total. The boys cross country team did just that this year, and we all managed to have as much fun as one could running through the woods in cold rain wearing short shorts. The team was terrific, and I enjoyed working with everyone.

Julia Ishak

The Girl's Cross Country team had an outstanding season this year! The girls finished with an impressive record of 11 wins and only 3 losses. Under the leadership of Coach Elliot, Coach Sam and Charlie Casartello, many female runners got to decrease their times and enjoy running! The girls also appreciated being on a team that supported them. The strength of the team's spirit helped runners such as Alison Basdekis, Jackie Togneri and Niki Platzer reach success! Way to go, girls!

Proving once again that Longmeadow soccer is a powerful force, the Men's Soccer team advanced to the Western Massachusetts Championship. Led by senior captains Mark Howland, Jay Betley, Jon Hollister, and Coach Pantusco, the Varsity team played hard all season and won some important games, including a hard match against heavily favored Cathedral. Under the guidance of Coach Hume and led by junior captians Trevor Fay, Mark Kuhn, Lee Weiss and Jeff McCormick, the Junior Varsity team also had a successful season. Congratulations to both teams on a great season.

The women's soccer team entered the season with high expectations of a young team, and a great deal of enthusiam and determination. The Lancers, led by senior captains Erin Smith and Leah Skypeck as well as junior Kerry O'Malley, worked hard to earn a 7-7-4 record and an appearance in a very close Western Mass semi-final game against eventual state champion Ludlow High School. Highlights of the season included an exciting 1-0 win over Waconah Regional High School, and a 5-2 playoff win against Pittsfield, Kerry O'Malley scoring 4 scores. All 21 players on the team trained hard and contributed to the success of the team in many different ways. Individual players were very accomplished, senior Kathleen MacDonald and junior Courtney Wagner were named to the All-Western Mass second team, Leah Skypeck was named to the All-State team, and Kerry O'Malley received All-New England status. The girls look forward to another successful season next year, and hopefully a win over Ludlow.

The Volleyball team had a great season this year. The JV team, coached by Josh Gannon, had a record of 13-7 wins to losses, an example of an extreme winning streak. They also encouraged and strongly supported the Varsity team, coached by Rita Hawker. The Varsity team had a 13-9 final season record and was led by key players such as senior Sara Joyce and junior Susie Moore. These girls made the play-offs and competed against Putnam High School in the opening round. After their victory, they went on to play Minnechaug in an extremely close match. Great season girls!

Longmeadow Wins Again!

Andrew Packin

The Longmeadow Boys Varsity Basketball team had the best year in the history the school's boy's basketball program. They finished 19-3 and made it to the ser finals in the Western Mass playoffs because they were the first league title since 1995. Even though they did not win it all, they were one of the only two teams beat the Western Mass champs, Cathedral. They were an exciting team to watch this year, led by Coach Hassan Robinson and a group of 9 seniors. They had a diehard attitude and gave 110% at all times. Another memorable moment this year was when Junior John Williams scored 1,000 points for his career in the fir home game of the year. The Lancers were led by the tri-captains Adam Kleiner, Adam Derby, and Jay Betley. The winning tradition has been started at Longmeadow with this group of guys, and hopefully it will stay for a very long time.

Defeating rivals: Amherst, Minnechaug, and Agawam twice during the regular season proved to be another defining mome for the team. Culminating their season with a loss in the Western Mass finals v devastating, but being the first LHS girls team to get there was an exhilarating experience. The team finished the season at 18-5.

"Despite the lose of some great seniors, we had a great year. It was supposed to be a rebuilding year and turned into a fight for the Western Mass title. Having a young team brought a lot of benefits, it brought excitement and made us closer as a team. Since we aren't losing many to graduation, our team will have an advantagee next year over our competitors."

Masacksic

Masacksic
By: Claudia Paren

Year after year, students anticipate the end-of-the-year coming of the Masacksic Yearbook. However, before the arrival of the traditional yearbook signing exchange, hours upon hours are spent compiling and perfecting these memory filled pages.

The task of creating the 2001 edition fell on the shoulders of approximately one hundred students. From copy writers and photographers to editors, the efforts of numerous high schoolers were combined to formulate every page.

While Co-Editors Meghan Shea and Christie Allen agree that the best part of producing the yearbook is indeed the final product, they contend that "It is a lot harder than it looks, and there is so much behind the scenes that sometimes people don't realize how many hours go into making a yearbook."

Fortunately, the club receives assistance from advisor Mr. Roger LeBlanc. His expertise is vital to the production process. "Without him, we wouldn't be able to function," said Meghan.

Without a doubt, the work is hard, but the experience is worthwhile. The Masacksic yearly paints a portrait of life at Longmeadow High School, and it is truly appreciated by all.

National Honor Society
By: Rachel Peck

All National Honor Society members are honored to be in NHS. They have the qualities that NHS stands for, including leadership, character, interest in serving others, and academic scholarship. From potluck dinners to community service projects such as habitat for humaity to tutoring, members participate in a variety of activities. Led by the NHS board advisor, Mr. Juergens, the club successfully reaches out to the LHS and Longmeadow community. The number of members has drastically grown to about 150 and hopefully will continue to grow.

The esteemed members of the National Honor Society join together to receive recognition for their great accomplishments.

Emily Capurso

Key Club, Longmeadow High School's service organization, has worked diligently to improve the school and community throughout the year. Under the leadership of advisor Mrs. Vesta Brown, and board members: Sarah Bergeron, Emily Capurso, Ashley Hobart, Lisa Hoff, Matt Galuska, Rachel Menard, Jen Omartian, and Andrew Whiteford, the club successfully completed a variety of projects. This year the club was also honored to have two members serve on the New England District Board: Kathryn Moriarty and Jordanna Starr. With over a hundred members, the club has been able to cook for Loaves and Fishes, help run numerous walkathons, collect gifts for needy children, sell concessions at sporting events, and make holiday decorations with kindergartners for senior citizens. Other projects members participated in include Kids Day, the Big Balloon Parade, elementary school picnics, and Parent Nights. The group strove to work with Kiwanis, its parent service organization, and Key Clubs in other areas in c ompleting these projects. With each member required to complete twenty hours of service each month, the club has dedicated hundreds of hours to the welfare of others. In the spring, both the Healthy Kids Festival and District Convention marked another year of tremendous service.

JET JOTTER

Jet Jotter
By: Noah Forrest and Jason Seigel

The Jet Jotter had an extremely successful 2000-2001 year as it published at least one issue per month every month. Its Co-Editors-in-Chief, Noah Forrest and Claudia Paren, led the Jet Jotter. They focused on literary excellence as well as having a lot of fun. The paper was also successful due in a large part to its production manager, Jason Seigel, who took on a larger leadership role as the year progressed. The paper introduced many new features like a Quotes Box, Bandeian's Car Corner, and many special issues such as a Valentine's Day issue and an election special. Historical favorites, such as the Roving Reporter, Athlete of the Month, and Faculty Forum traditions were continued as well.

The Jet Jotter's strong staff depended on the efforts of all the section editors: Greg Waryasz, Marie Hemmelgarn, Jordana Starr, Nicole Forest, Alyson Ronald, Brian Dean, and Eric Lesser. The pape would not be possible without the proofreading team of Lindsey Fernald and Chelsea Twohig, who made sure the paper was published free of errors. The Jet Jotter was also able to continue its successful partnerships with local businesses through its advertising managers, Anthony Santos and Tim O'Leary. One of the most influential people involved with the Jet Jotter was Mrs. Morse, the club's advisor, who helped keep the paper around during hard times. She proved to be what a great advisor is, a person who helps guide, but does not interfere. Thanks to her dedication, the Jet Jotter has had on of its best years ever. Finally, the Jet Jotter would like to thank all the writers and contributors who made it so successful, and would also like to encourage everyone interested to contribute to future Jet Jotter Issues.

You are walking down the English hallway, on your way out of the building, when suddenly something catches your eye. You discover a room, the headquarters of Impressions, the literary magazine. Through the window you see a conglomeration of different types of people who are writing, reading, making posters...having fun! After being greeted by the many friendly faces of the staff, you become the next new member...This is the kind of scenario I*mpressions* works to make a reality. This year, one of their main goals is to form a staff of diverse minds. Impressions has a quotation from Lawrence Ferlinghetti that delivers their message: "Poetry is the anarchy of the senses making sense." This quotation conveys to the school their goal of working together to bring different types of people together to make Impressions something everyone can enjoy. Co-editors-in-chief are Violeta de los Reyes and Heidi Shira Tannenbaum. A dedicated staff works many long hours making posters, reading submissions, and recruiting new members. Faculty advisor, Mrs. Linda McShane, helps to facilitate the energetic bunch and contributes her time and ideas to make the magazine a success. AFS

American Field Service

Jackie Cook

The Longmeadow High School Chapter of AFS offers students excellent opportunities to experience a foreign culture. Each year, the club assists in having students participate in programs abroad. This year, one LHS student, Ellen Russell, spent six months abroad in Chile. The club's advisor is Ms. Hawkey and the President is Jackie Cook. Other members of the board include Vice-President Bethany Peck, and Secretary & Treasurer Sara Wiseman. Another important function of the club is to help the foreign exchange students adjust to American culture and to make their stay here at LHS as enjoyable as possible. In the past year, the club has organized several AFS dinners and meetings in an effort to welcome and entertain the exchange students : Marius Christoffersen from Norway, Alexandra Lavergne from France, and Pamela Iglesias from Chile.

The French Club is a gathering of students who have an interest in the culture and lifestyle of the French people. You don't need to be a French-speaking pupil to join, because this club is open to anyone in the school. We have held many events, such as a lively discussion and slide show about life in France led by this year's foreign exchange student from Paris, and a Crepes Party, where we made authentic French Crepes. We also celebrated Mardi Gras by throwing a party, a "Galette des Rois," and a French movie night has been planned for the second part of the year. Alors, ne perdez pas de temps et venez vite nous rejoindre pour partager de nouvelles experiences.

Students Against Destructive Decisions, also known as S.A.D.D., is about helping students by increasing their awareness about making healthy decisions. Students are not always aware of the effects of drugs and alcohol. Our group is here to acknowledge that the decisions students make now can effect their future, and can hurt people around them. Meetings are held approximately every two weeks and there are about sixty members. With the help of their advisor, Mrs. Wiseman, the students work towards raising money to buy videos and posters to encourage studentsto think before they act. The club also has worked towards sponsoring events that will help to raise awareness of issues relating to student life, such as substance abuse and intoxicated driving.

The A Better Chance program in Longmeadow has been around for 25 years, and this year will mark its 26th year of service. This national program provides gifted inner city youths, mainly from New York City, with an opportunity to excel in school and obtain a high quality education at Longmeadow High School. The ABC scholars are removed from a difficult educational atmosphere to a more academically challenging one. Therefore, they have a greater chance of becoming successful. The scholars currently enrolled at Longmeadow High School are Richard Pearson (Freshman), Marcus Gaines (Junior), Jose Hernandez (Junior) and Dereck Johnson (Senior).

This year's Math Team had another enjoyable and successful season. The team consistently placed second out of the more than twenty schools that competed in this year's five Western Massachuseets Math League meets. Longmeadow also earned a second place finish for the year, behind only Deerfield Academy, which spent yet another season mercilessly beating up on all the public schools in the Math League. Advised by Mrs. Peters, the members of Longmeadow's Math Team attended practices every Tuesday afternoon, and competed in meets once every month, in which they solved problems spanning the entire mathematical spectrum. The Math Team has steadily grown in numbers in recent years, and the club's popularity will likely continue to grow in the future.

By: Rob Berger

Longmeadow's 2000-20001 As Schools Match Wits team enjoyed one of its more successful seasons in recent years. The team was victorious in all three of its regular season appearances on the television quiz program, and earned a berth in the playoffs. During the months leading up to their television appearances, the five team members, seniors Rob Berger and Colin Murphy, juniors Brian Goff and Mike Klein, and freshman Chris Breen, attended weekly meetings led by their coach, Dr. Berger, in which they brushed up on their trivia knowledge and discussed strategy. As the picture clearly shows, the team's primary stategy was to rack up as many points as possible before their opponents realized the match had started. With its talended underclassmen, the As Schools Match Wits team is sure to continue to wow viewers with its vast collection of useless knowlege in the years to come.

International Club
By: Meghan Shea

Striving to educate themselves as well a others about world issues and concerns, Interna tional Club attended Harvard Model United Nations, WNEC Model UN, and helped out in diversity week. Model UN, often run by colleg clubs, is a simulation of the United Nations. Each high school is assigned a country, which they must represent, meaning that they debate the issue from that country's particular viewpoint. Model UN enables students to step out c the United States' all-powerful mindset into, fo example, that of a small third world nation in Africa. By helping with diversity week, the clu hoped to enlighten the school about the world. Co-Presidents Sowji Kilaru and Meghan Shea, Vice President Stephanie Chen, Secretary Neal Dugre, Treasurer Patty Lin, and advisor, Ms. Snyder led the club and helped in expanding th membership. Members attended weekly meetings, where the group prepared for upcoming events, such as Model UN, diversity week, or a club "cultural" dinner. With many younger members, International Club looks to still be educating for years to come.

By: Cat Mathews

Amnesty International is a club concerned with the protection of human rights across the world. This year's Longmeadow chapter of Amnesty concentrated mostly on the abolition of capital punishment in America. The club had anti-death penalty speaker Saul Fineston, come to the school and educate students on how the death penalty is harmful to society. Amnesty members also began letter-writing campaigns to key political leaders about their feelings against the death penalty. Amnesty members also sponsored a letter-writing campaign to politicians about their opposition to sweat shops around the globe.

METCO

METCO is an acronym for the Metropolitan Council for Education Opportunities. METCO has been the program of choice for minority families since it began in 1968. The METCO Program has been the model for other states. The students begin the program in kindergarten and follow through to graduation. In the beginning the purpose of the program was to offer a solution to the problem of racial imbalance. The program has surpassed the original purpose some years ago. The METCO Program does not exist as a viable choice for minority families and benefits both the urban and surburban communities it serves. The ultimate goal of the program is to teach all children to live not by rules that are black or white but a common golden rule. All expenses including tuition and transportation are provided by the Massachusetts Department of Education. Once a child enters the school system he/she is expected to meet its criteria both academically and socially. The METCO Program and its students have participated in every aspect of the school community. METCO has brought well received cultural programs to the schools. Ninety-seven percent of the students go on to four year colleges. The METCO program has added generously to the Longmeadow General Town Fund.

Peer Training is a club in LHS that focuses on and tries to erase the aspect of prejudice and discrimination throughout the school. Longmeadow is one of fifteen schools in Western Massachusetts that offers this program to its students. It is sponsored by the Anti-Defamation League of Boston, and started in Longmeadow during the 1999-2000 school year. The peer trainers perform workshops in front of freshman and sophomore history classes. The club is also actively involved in facilitating open discussions on the subject of prejudice during diversity week. There are about 25 current members in the club. In the 2001-2002 school year, Peer Training will be offered as a class to all students. Ms. MacPartlan of the guidance department leads the club and will participate in the upcoming classes.

R.E.A.L.I.T.Y.
By: Lisa Rosenberg

REALITY (Respect Each Alternative Lifestyle in Today's Youth) is the school's gay-straight alliance for gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, and questioning students and their straight allies. The group works to fight homophobia and discrimination at LHS while also providing support and a forum for discussion during weekly meetings. This year they participated in organizing Diversity Week, went to workshops, conferences, and a performance of Rent. They also sponsored the Shared Heart exhibit and marched in the Youth Pride March in Boston.

Heather Cromwell closes up a display from the homosexual art exhibit that the GSA sponsored.

Sterling Blonder, Lisa Rosenberg and Heather Cromwell work together to take down a piece from the art exhibit in the library.

Mr. Otlin, advisor of REALITY, donates his two cents at a recent meeting.

Rebecca Balder, Heather Cromwell, Lisa Rosenberg and Sterling Blonder discuss different ways to publicize the club in order to open it up to a larger group of students.

Astronomy Club

The Astronomy Club, a relatively new club to LHS, is composed of students from all grades, who are interested in learning more about the vast, mysterious and exciting universe. Under the leadership of faculty advisor, Mr. Hirsch, the club meets often to discuss recent scientific developments relating to astronomy.

Science League

Jen Tang and Ashley Hobart get excited for science.

Science League
By: Bevan Weissman

Longmeadow's Science League has experienced another successful year under advisor Mr. Hirsch. Members meet every Thursday to discuss and plan for their upcoming events for future meets, which are held on the first Thursday of every month. The great variety of events to choose from lets anyone enjoy and participate in Science League, even if science is not your strong subject. Competitions are fun as well as educational, with opportunities to contribute to the team's success and then have a good time enjoying refreshments with fellow team members. The day-long state meet in early spring is a greatly anticipated event, as is the relaxing last meet of the year at Northfield Mountain. Although Longmeadow's rivalry with Minnechaug for the regional first place title is strong, our Science League's continued growth will lead to much future success.

Environmental Club

Eva Jermyn and Alissa Albert show their team spirit while going out to save the environment!

"In wilderness is the preservation of the world."
-Henry David Thoreau

Environmental Club

The Environmental Club at Longmeadow High School is devoted to promoting awareness of environmental issues. In addition to raising students' environmental consciousness, the club sponsors and organizes a number of regular events, including Connecticut River clean-ups, elementary school programs, and trips to the Longmeadow Recycling Center. Annually, we attendEarth Connection, a regional environmental conference at the University of Massachusetts. We make learning about the environment an enjoyable experience.

OUTING CLUB

Outing Club
By: Mr. Otlin

The Outing Club seeks to boldly go where no LHS student has gone before. We go out in hail, tornadoes, hurricanes amd other natural elements to gorge ourselves on chocolate and build fires with our bare hands on top of the most remote peaks of Western Massachusetts. The club operates in a completely undemocratic manner, more closely resembling the workings of an amoeba than anything else.

Alison Basdekis treks up the mountain while snow shoeing with Outing Club.

Amy White, Marie Durfee, Sarah Petroff, Alison Basdekis, Marie Hemmelgarn, Rachel and Alissa Albert represent the strong females of the Outing Club.

Drill Team

Tracey Bronn and Frankie Bucemi enjoy each others' company at a recent practice.

Drill Team
By: Pearl Chauhan

Rykiel Weeks, Kristen Drungo and Jasmine Amegan are the Drill Team Captains. They work very hard to make sure its members are ready for presenting their spirit to the crowd at LHS basketball games. The crowds go crazy as the members jump, stomp and clap to their own beats. They meet every day, raising their own money to pay for their uniforms and pizza parties. Each year, the members try their best to improve their routine and get the fans pumped!

Jackie Cook, Pearl Chauhan and Rachel Kaye get psyched for drill team.

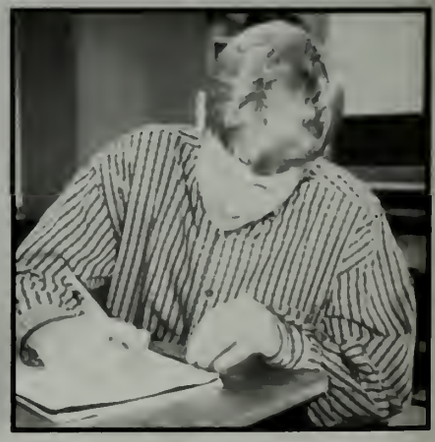
Business Professionals of LHS
By: Jason Seigel

The former Business Club has undergone an evolution in the past three years. Now called the Business Professionals of LHS (BPLHS), club members experience profit-focus business operation along with participation in community service as well as learning and practicing proper business etiquette.

Since its evolution, the club has focused on fundraising activities to finance members' trips to state and national Business Professionals of America competitions in workplace skills assessment. The 2001 BPLHS members competed in Application/Interview Skills, Banking & Finance, Database & Spreadsheet Applications, Management Concepts, Accounting, Entrepreneur, Desktop Publishing, Computer-Aided Graphics, Word Processing and Web Site Development tests.

The Annual Valentine's Day carnation sales, bread sales, bottle drives, and other such activities have all been successful due to good member participation and active support from the faculty and student body. The club's advisor, Mrs. Morse, as well as the club's new officers have been crucial to bringing organizational success. At the same time, the club's affiliation with the National Business Professionals of America has established new goals for the Business Department as well.



Junior Brad Kucab works hard preparing for the next meeting.

Art Club
By: Elina Tochilnokova

Art Club is composed of a group of students who loves various types of art and helping our school and the community. Art Club meets every other Tuesday from 2:15 to 3:00 and is open to everyone. Meetings consist of making plans for future events, drawing, painting, making collages, and holding contests, bake sales and other activities. The purpose of art club is to help out the community through art, by painting bulletin boards, and boards to cover windows of broken down houses, to make them more decorative and attractive. Two major events held by the art club have been the poster sale and the pumpkin carving contest.

Huang-Li Nguyen and Jeff Marsh sort through masterpieces.

Cool Runners Club

The club enjoys a brisk, afternoon run combined with their love for literature.

Cool Runners Club
By: Laird Ellis

The Cool Runners Club & Poetry Memorization Society fuses athleticism and intellectualism in the tradition of the Latin maxim mens sana in copore sano. Cool Runners pursue fitness within the slender hours of daylight from December to March. They run in zero wind chill and step through snow banks. They toss lines of "Jabberwocky" and "The Emperor of Ice Cream" to each other while breathing effortlessly and keeping one foot in the air over six miles of park lands and parking lots. Cool Runners cross the white horizon like a phantom band of athletic angels singing in the praises of life in the words of Roethke and Dickinson and Frost and Ogden Nash. They are as cool as crystals sparkling along arcs of winter sunlight. In the rare world where stength and beauty meet, Cool Runners rule.
